HON. EDOLPHUS TOWNS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 25, 1998

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Mr. Edward A. Weinstein, an individual who through his public service, especially in New York, is an invaluable asset to our communities. Through his 37-year tenure at Deloitte & Touche LLP, Mr. Weinstein has made a tremendous impact to both his profession, and the community.

During his college days at Columbia College, Mr. Weinstein received academic honors and distinctions in economics. As a graduate student, he received his M.B.A. from The Wharton School. Mr. Weinstein was also a member of the Beta Alpha Psi and Beta Gamma Sigma honor societies at The Wharton School. The hard work ethic that led to his academic success has carried on to his success, not only as a devout father of two children, but also into his vast public service contributions to society. Mr. Weinstein is past President of the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants and is a past Vice President and member of its Board of Directors. He was also a member of the Council of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and has been chairman and a member of many committees of the New York State Society of CPAs and AICPA.

Mr. Weinstein is the author of several articles dealing with the numerous topics that have been published in prominent publications such as The CPA Journal, The Journal of Accountancy, the Credit and Financial Management Magazine, and many others. In 1975, he won the Max Block Award of The CPA Journal for his article entitled "A Time of Travail and Challenge". Mr. Weinstein is also an individual who has been very involved in civic activities. He has been an advisor to a Junior Achievement Group as well as a member of the Financial Advisory Committee of the Salvation Army. He has been a trustee of The International House, the Fairmont Park Council for Historic Sites, the World Affairs Council, and the Federation of Jewish Agencies of Greater Philadelphia. Mr. Weinstein is very active with the United Way, and in 1992, both the NYSSCPA and AICPA recognized him with awards for his public service. Currently, he serves as a Board member of the New York City Police Foundation and the Cooper Hewitt National Museum of Design in New York.

Mr. Speaker, it is with great honor that I pay tribute to Edward A. Weinstein, a member of the community who throughout his life has always been active in society and through his service has given back innumerable amounts of resources to the community.

IN RECOGNITION OF EVELYN
CUNNINGHAM

HON. CHARLES B. RANGEL

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 25, 1998

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to bring to your attention and to the attention of my colleagues here in the House, the story of a woman 82 years young, who was once known as "Big East" and the "Lynching Editor" when she was a reporter for The Pittsburgh Courier. This dynamo of whom I speak is none other than Evelyn Cunningham.

Evelyn Cunningham grew up in New York where she was the daughter of a dressmaker and a cab driver. She would come to work at The Pittsburgh Courier from 1940 to 1962, working out of the paper's New York City office at 125th Street and Seventh Avenue when not at the home office on the outskirts of Pittsburgh.

When Evelyn Cunningham entered a room, you knew it. Nicknamed "Big East" because of her high heels, red hair, mink coat, and attitude, Ms. Cunningham was a force to be reckoned with. She was also known as the "Lynching Editor" which was a name she earned as a result of her stories on the fight for equal rights in the early 1960's. She reported on the school desegregation fight in Birmingham, Alabama, and on the Montgomery bus boycott.

Presently living in Harlem where she's been a resident for the past 40 years, Ms. Cunningham is still very much active. She serves on a number of boards including the Appollo Theatre Foundation and the Studio Museum, and just recently, was among five former Courier reporters accepting the George Polk Career Award when the paper was honored by Long Island University.

Ms. Cunningham often prided herself on covering the hard news stories, but thought that the black press lacked 'humor'. What did she do? She changed that by writing a column of commentary called, "The Women."

Yes, Evelyn Cunningham once a star of one of the most influential newspapers in America, is someone to whom we can extend accolades of respect and admiration. This is for you Evelyn.

May God continue to bless you and keep you in his care.

REMEMBRANCE OF ANDREW
LEWIS TRUJILLO

HON. BOB SCHAFFER

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 25, 1998

Mr. BOB SCHAFFER of Colorado. Mr. Speaker, I speak today in remembrance of one of Ft. Collins' most well-known good Samaritans, Andrew Lewis Trujillo. Lewis, as he preferred to be called, founded Night Walker Enterprises, a charitable organization that carried truckloads of toys, food and clothing to impoverished Indian reservations across the country. Always ready with a smile or a joke, Mr. Trujillo brought happiness and hope to hundreds of children and families each year at Christmas. Part Ute Indian, Lewis Trujillo showed tireless dedication and effort in his charitable work. He has left a legacy of giving that continues with Night Walker Enterprises, now serving 32 reservations in ten states. His efforts helped bring Coloradans together, and brought joy and happiness into the lives of many. Ft. Collins has suffered a great loss with the passing of Lewis Trujillo, but his selfless spirit lives on with all of those he touched. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

COMMENDING JACK ALLEN, CIVIC LEADER

HON. FORTNEY PETE STARK

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 25, 1998

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to congratulate Mr. Jack Allen of San Leandro and his wife Elsie on their 50 years of marriage. In our community, Jack is a hero, and rightfully so. Jack labored persistently for twelve years to get a stamp to commemorate Juan Cabrillo, the Portuguese explorer of Alta California over 450 years ago.

His efforts resulted in the Juan Cabrillo commemorative postage stamp that was finally approved by the Postal Service in 1992. The stamp was a symbol of the importance of the Portuguese settlers to our founding nation. Jack's actions in our community through the Cabrillo Clubs continue the Portuguese-American contributions to our country through the clubs' charitable and education work.

Jack has demonstrated his loving commitment in another area, his marriage to his lovely wife, Elsie. We salute Jack and Elsie as they celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.
